

IPF SUPPORT COMMUNITIES

IPF Support Communities

American Association for Respiratory Care

The American Association for Respiratory Care is a professional association whose mission is to advance the field of respiratory care and advocate for patients, families, and respiratory care professionals.

Visit the American Association for Respiratory Care

American Lung Association

The American Lung Association is an organization dedicated to improving lung health and preventing lung disease. The organization focuses its efforts on lung disease research, education, and advocacy.

Visit the American Lung Association

Inspire

Inspire is an organization that partners with national advocacy groups to help connect patients and caregivers, including those affected by IPF. Through Inspire, users can find support from people who understand the disease and what it's like to live with it.

Visit Inspire

PatientsLikeMe

PatientsLikeMe is a free network where patients can track and share their real-world health experiences in order to help themselves, other patients like them, and organizations that research their conditions and develop treatments for them. The site has a community dedicated to pulmonary fibrosis.

Visit PatientsLikeMe

Pulmonary Fibrosis Foundation

The Pulmonary Fibrosis Foundation connects people living with pulmonary fibrosis to each other for support and inspiration. The organization also offers education, resources, and access to care for both patients and caregivers.

Find Support Groups

View PFF Educational Resources

Watch PFF Educational Videos

